MEMBER RESPONSIBILITIES and OBLIGATIONS

Thank you for expressing an interest in becoming a member of Multiple Exposures Gallery (MEG). We hope the following information will provide you with a better understanding of what being a member of MEG means.

During the jurying process, we look first for technical excellence and artistic merit. We then look for work that will balance and diversify the photography of our current membership. We look for individuals with the ability and interest to deal with the public in a professional manner. Finally, we look for members who are willing to work harmoniously in a cooperative setting, accepting responsibility for the tasks necessary to run our gallery.

New MEG members will be a full cooperative member with equal rights and responsibilities after a probationary period. In accordance with the Torpedo Factory Artists' Association regulations and the bylaws of the gallery, there is a six-month trial period during which, you may leave on your own or be asked to leave by the members.

Each member:

- receives a two-person or one-person show, once it can be scheduled into the existing member show schedule
- has the obligation to submit framed work for juried group shows, and images for slideshows that run on the gallery HDTV
- is provided a bin for unframed work
- staffs the gallery during open hours of operation, 2-3 days per month (based on the number of members)
- attends monthly business meetings, pay their monthly dues on time and volunteers for, or are assigned gallery duties

Member financial obligations are:

- An initiation fee of $400, refundable should you leave within the six-month trial period, whether it is your decision or the membership's
- A monthly fee, (presently $90, but subject to change), which covers the rent, phone, Artists' Association dues and insurance, and other costs of running the gallery. This fee is paid three months ($270) in advance and due when the six-month trial begins.

- Periodic capital expenses (such as new bins, carpet, furniture), as approved by the members
- The gallery receives a 15% commission on all gallery sales

Please call, email or visit the gallery if you have any questions about these responsibilities and obligations of membership in Multiple Exposures Gallery.

Sincerely,
The Members
